

Nancy's teaching ministry accented with her great sense of humor and practical living insight has made her a popular speaker in women's conferences, meetings and retreats.

Through her honest and often candid presentation Nancy shares her life's journey through a drug addicted life, a battle with cancer, prodigal children and the restoration of relationships.

Nancy is an ordained minister and graduate of Christ For The Nations Institute in Dallas, Texas. She has traveled and ministered nationally and internationally.

Nancy is a contributor for the "Women of Destiny" Bible published by Thomas Nelson.

Nancy was involved with a weekly outreach on the streets of Phoenix to the homeless, drug addicts and prostitutes.

In 1981, Nancy together with her husband Scott established Scott Hinkle Outreach Ministries, Inc which conduct outreaches, crusades and conferences nationally and internationally.

Together the Hinkle's travel and minister in churches and outreaches. They have directed two Christian rehabilitation homes for drug addicted women and have ministered on the streets of cities such as New Orleans, New York, San Francisco and Hollywood.

Nancy lives in New Jersey with her husband Scott. In 2009 they began to pave the way for a new church--Jersey Life Church-- in the Jersey Shore.

Scott and Nancy are married with two children. An ordained ministers with the Foursquare Church in Los Angeles, CA. As a family and ministry they were a part of Phoenix First Assembly pastored by Tommy Barnett in Phoenix, Arizona where Scott also served as a church evangelist.